

Jay Small Biography

I'm a highly accomplished, innovative results-oriented global EH&S executive with extensive domestic and international expertise in environmental, health & safety management systems, environmental, health & safety regulations, sustainability initiatives, human and organizational performance, policies/standards development, risk management, workers' compensation, loss prevention, Lean/Six Sigma, employee/executive training, process safety management, compliance, and budget administration. Accomplished at developing and implementing EHS improvement strategies, and management systems and integrating them into business processes, resulting in a strong EH&S culture and improved organizational performance. I excel at building strong functional teams, influencing senior leaders and affecting change at multi-national companies. I have a proven aptitude for reducing serious injuries & fatalities (SIFs), incidents/injury rates, improving sustainability, and generating significant financial savings.