

Elizabeth Romano currently serves as a National Client Manager for Partner Engineering and Science Inc. In this role, Ms. Romano is responsible for developing clients and driving sales within the market and corporate/commercial real estate space. With over 20 years in the environmental, health, safety and sustainability (EHS&S) field, Ms. Romano has supported local, regional, national, and international clients with environmental and infrastructure solutions to successfully manage their real estate portfolios and meet organizational objectives. She has managed turnkey environmental and infrastructure programs for clients with sizable portfolios of real estate, including the development and implementation of an environmental risk governance program for a Fortune 50 banking client.